April 9 & 10 at Ohio University Southern

Join your colleagues from schools and organizations across the region to learn how to use the Reality Therapy Approach when interacting with your students. Dr. Robert Wubbolding, educator, author, practitioner, and leading expert in reality therapy will show you how to implement Reality Therapy and the WDEP System in your classroom so that your students enjoy learning! Dr. Andrea Evans and Monda DeWeese will join Dr. Wubbolding for additional perspectives on how to deal with problems and motivate your students!

From an interview with Dr. Wubbolding at <http://www.ait.net/workshops/wubbolding/>

Reality Therapy is a system that's very popular with teachers, in the sense that it's not "therapy" in the traditional sense. It is a method of communicating and dealing with problems and decisions that students have in a direct, but humane way. It's a very good way to deal with avoidance, with excuses; it's a very good way to help students get motivated. The reason it's effective is that it's based on the fact that we choose our behavior. Our behavior, our actions, our thinking, and our feeling originate inside of us; it's not thrust on us from the outside. So, it's very different than the system in which we reward and punish people and try to control them from the outside. We try to get people to make judgments from the inside, with self-evaluation, defining what they want, making plans. We help them; we provide information, and we give them suggestions, but it's an internal kind of motivation system.

Robert E. Wubbolding, Ed.D., internationally known teacher, author, and practitioner of Reality Therapy, teaches Choice Theory and Reality Therapy in the United States, Europe, Asia, and the Middle East. His contributions to the theory and practice include the ideas of Positive Symptoms, The Cycle of Counseling, Five Levels of Commitment, and others. He has also expanded significantly the Procedure of Evaluation. He has written over 130 articles, essays, and chapters in textbooks as well as ten books and published nine videos on Reality Therapy including the widely acclaimed books Reality Therapy for the 21st Century, and A Set of Directions for Putting and Keeping Yourself Together.

His busy professional life includes director of the Center for Reality Therapy, Professor Emeritus at Xavier University in Cincinnati Ohio, and Senior Faculty for The William Glasser Institute in Los Angeles. He has consulted with the drug and alcohol abuse programs of the U.S. Army and Air Force. He was a group counselor at a halfway house for women, an elementary and secondary school counselor, a high school teacher, and a teacher of adult basic education. For two years, he taught for the University of Southern California in their overseas programs in Japan, Korea, and Germany.

Andrea D. Evans, Psy.D. is a doctoral-level clinical psychologist licensed in both Kentucky and Ohio. In private practice since 2000, Dr. Evans’ work primarily focuses upon adult psychotherapy, both individual and couple, addressing emotional, relational, personality, spiritual and other life challenges. A portion of her practice is also devoted to providing family psychotherapy, child psychotherapy, pain management, and biofeedback.

Monda H. DeWeese is Executive Director of SEPTA Correctional Facility in Nelsonville, Ohio whose treatment modality stands firmly on Reality Therapy and Choice Theory principles. Mrs. DeWeese holds an Associate Degree in Corrections from Hocking College, a Bachelor of Criminal Justice and a Masters in Public Administration from Ohio University. Ms. DeWeese serves as adjunct faculty at Hocking College, teaching an Introduction to Reality Therapy course. She is certified in Reality Therapy and is both a Basic and Advanced Practicum Instructor.

Science Teachers – Grades 7 – 12

Climate Change ... Global Impact

Global Climate models integrate science content knowledge from virtually every science discipline. Climate science is one of the most important areas of scientific investigation because the science of climate and climate change is inextricably linked to both public policy and economics.

This professional development program will

- strengthen teacher content knowledge, with an emphasis on using simple experiments to collect first hand data and using that data to develop a basic understanding of the climate systems on earth.
- provide an inquiry- focused exploration of the underlying science themes involved in climate models, such as energy transfer through physical and living systems, atmospheric and oceanographic systems, and impact of climate on ecosystem function and stability.
- focus on the challenge of dealing with scientific uncertainty, on-going scientific research and the validity of projections.
- implement the standards of Scientific Inquiry and Scientific Ways of Knowing.
- demonstrate the importance of students being able to integrate science knowledge within a complex setting such as climate and life on earth.
- investigate the science of alternative energy sources at both the local and global scale.

Never Work Harder Than Your Students

Is great teaching a gift that only a few of us are born with, or is it a skill that can be learned? This one day session will inspire you to take a close look at your teaching, to challenge your assumptions about both teaching and the way students learn, and to adjust your instruction so that your students can learn more effectively. Develop a “master teacher mindset” by applying the following principles to your teaching until they become an automatic response to students in your classroom:

- Start where your students are
- Know where your students are going
- Expect to get your student to their goal
- Support your students along the way
- Use feedback to help you and your students get better
- Focus on quality rather than quantity

WHEN: Tuesday, February 23
Registration and continental breakfast at 8:00
Program begins promptly at 8:30
Lunch will be provided

WHERE: South Central Ohio ESC in Portsmouth

COST: No charge to teachers and administrators in the SCOESC Service area. For those participants outside the SCOESC service area, a registration fee of $100 per person is required.
